ORGAN-GRINDER'S PET

ISN'T it strange that Senator James Hamilton Lewis can't see that in overlastingly trying to represent himself as some sort of mysterious representative and spokesman of the president, he is weakening instead of strengthening himself with the people of his state and the country? By his antics in this line he practically admits that he feels the insufficiency of his own qualifications and must appeal to his constituents upon the theory that he is the echo or messenger or rubber stamp of somebody else. Imagine a Webster, a Clay, a Calhoun, or any one of a number of illustrious men who have represented Lewis' own state in congress, appealing for re-election by throwing out the rather vague inference that they have gone to Europe on some mysterious mission for the president. Imagine any one of them getting the president to write a letter in their behalf, imagine any one of them seeking election to the highest legislative body on the face of the globe upon any other plea than that of his own principles and personal qualifications. This is the time of all times when the nation needs men of independent convictions and unlimited courage at Washington, and the voters know it. Lewis has set his own estimate upon himself, and the voters of Illinois will accept his rating, and reject him at the polls. Whenever they get ready to send a rubber stamp to Washington, they will get a real one, which can be purchased anywhere for 20 cents.

ARE YOU PREPARED?

THE lesson to be drawn from the suspension of Sunday train service in and out of Tonopah is the growing difficulty of securing right of way for the most ordinary commodities essential to the life of a community. The restricted service does not imply that the business of the camp is on a decline or that there is any considerable abatement of business demands but it stands as a warning to those who believe they can put off to the last minute the purchase of absolute necessities. For instance, in the matter of coal, the fuel administration will have to allow for more freedom in the movement of cars carrying grains, meats, wool, cotton and all other essentials which must keep moving to the Atlantic coast without any interruption. Any interference with this traffic hampers our troop movements for the cargo ships and army transports are operated on a schedule that takes into calculation the arrival of foodstuffs from the far west. An apt illustration of the condition is found in the local demand for machinery. Scores of mines and prospects in Nye county stand in urgent need of equipment necessary for them to take part in the increased production of gold and silver brought about by the order of the administration that these industries must not suffer any interference. The real difficulty is to fill such orders where they are placed with manufacturers owing to the fact that the entire capacity of nearly every large machine shop in the country is taxed with war orders which take precedence over all other business. Priority order must be forthcoming when the equipment is ready for delivery to the railroads. In this way only a limited amount of traffic can be handled and the result is that the carloads of machinery and supplies of all kinds billed for this camp have been reduced to a mere fraction of what they were in normal times. The business of Tonopah has diminished for the reason that all industrial demands have to be subordinated to those of the army and navy. There is not a single commodity entering into the life of the mining industry that is not in greater demand here today than at any time in the past fifteen years. Managers of active producers are put to their wits end to devise means of getting along without ordering new machinery or in effecting repairs while companies anxious to reopen old properties cannot do any better than scour the country for second hand machinery which they are lucky to find as the whole western country has been combed for this class of supplies. Powder, steel, cyanide and fuel all feel the pressure of war demands and the manufacturers must keep their plants keyed up to high pitch on orders for the boys abroad before devoting either time or machinery to filling industrial orders.

These are the reasons why Tonopah traffic is at a low ebb. If it were not for war priorities mining in Tonopah and Nye county would be booming as it never boomed before.

STILL TANGLED

THERE is as much lack of co-ordination in the propaganda of the various bureaus at Washington as there is in the other phases of their work. We are told that "food will win the war," which leaves the necessary inference that the food producer is a direct war worker. But when plans are made for awarding service badges to men engaged in war work, it is ruled that only those engaged on government contracts will be entitled to wear the medal. The farmer who produces the food to feed the soldier cannot wear a war service medal but the tailor who cuts cloth to make a uniform will be presented with an insignia of patriotism.

A few days ago the department of labor issued a statement that it will protect the farmers against losses of help by the labor recruiting of other industries. Now comes the food administration with the announcement that "with men leaving our farms in ever increasing numbers to engage in direct war work, we probably will see this year the height of our agricultural production." The department of labor says it will protect the farmer and then offers a service medal to those who will leave the farm and go to a concern having any kind of a war contract. Great protection, that.

The director general of railroads says there is an adequate supply of cars, and the fuel administration says that coal production is hindered by lack of cars. And so it goes.

It is child's play for Spain to put up a bluff about breaking off diplomatic relations with the kaiser. The latter has been too generous with the distribution of favors to expect any serious fracture of peace relations. Spain will be subsidized to keep quiet and allow German submarines to frequent her ports with impunity. The neutrality of Spain is very elastic.

Uncle Sam has sent farm experts to Algeria to show the natives how to increase their crops. One of these is a drouth resistant expert who could find a profitable field in Nevada.

In the excitement of reading European war bulletins we may pause to reflect on the action of the administration in locating four more air squadrons in Texas, as if that state had not received enough already.

Nevada has not had a dollar and, unless her senators show more activity than they have, nothing will come this way.

It should be remembered that of the two votes cast against the man power draft bill one was by a Socialist and the other a Democrat.

Tonopah and Manhattan can hold their own with any other section of the state when it comes to marksmen.

NAVAL BASE HOSPITAL AT AN IRISH PORT

(Correspondence Associated Press)

AN IRISH PORT, July 26.—The American navy is constructing a base hospital here on the grounds of an old estate at one of the most picturesque spots on the Irish coast. The ward and other buildings which are almost completed are on a slope that gently rises from the sea to be topped at its crest by a fringe of giant beech trees in front of which is the old mansion house. The old home is being attractively fitted as a nurses' home to accommodate eighteen of the thirty nurses to be sent here.

While there has been very little sickness among the personnel at the American destroyer base, a hospital has been needed. The buildings were constructed on the "knocked down" plan, shipped here and are now being pieced together. By September 1 it will be ready for 250 patients. The hospital will have its own garden, raise its own poultry and maintain its own small dairy. Already the sailors have turned farmers. Pastures on the estate afford a good hay crop. The barn has been filled with it and there is a fair sized stack of a field ready for the stock that is to come.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS NOT A PEACE PANACEA

(Correspondence Associated Press)

LONDON, July 29.—"The United States, Great Britain and France will be the foundation of any League of nations and they must accept this burden at once," declared Sir Francis Trippl to the Associated Press correspondent. Sir Francis recently issued an appeal for the immediate formation in England of a "council for the advocacy of a league of nations."

"The first thing to be done, is to divest the scheme of illusions," he said. "A league of nations is not an absolute substitute for war. It is not an absolute guarantee of peace. It does not mean, for the present, total disarmament. It cannot be a 'forgive and forget' panacea. A league of nations must have the power to enforce its decrees. That is the crux of the whole question. If it has not, it will go the way of all the rest."

"Its chief function will be to remove the causes of war. It must make it easy for nations to co-operate and hard to stand alone. If a nation knows that a league has no power to enforce its decrees, it has scant respect or scruple for it. Does anyone in his senses believe that such a league is even remotely possible with a dominant Germany? She is the pariah nation of an angered world. If the fight ends in a draw, she remains dominant. If it ended tomorrow, she would snap her fingers at the ideals of the universe. Germany, as she is, is a menace to the world's peace."

"No propaganda is more important at the present time than the propaganda of the league of nations. And its existence depends upon Germany's defeat at her own particular game—the game of war."

"A council for the advocacy of a league of nations will be necessary in every country as far as possible, if imperialistic tendencies and dynamic desires for conflict are to be checked. We can begin at any rate with the United States, France and Great Britain. These three western democracies are bound to form an influential portion of any league of nations in the near future.

"A preliminary council for Great Britain should be formed from public men of all opinions.

KEEPING TORPEDOES IN EFFECTIVE SHAPE

(By Associated Press)

AN IRISH PORT, Aug. 26.—It requires frequent overhauling by highly skilled mechanics and a plant especially equipped for the work to maintain torpedoes in a state of efficiency to insure effectiveness. One small defect that may develop as the torpedo lays in a tube on a vessel may render it worthless at a time when most needed.

Lack of facilities and men who understood torpedoes brought to officers of the American destroyer base a rather perplexing problem some months ago but it has been successfully met and work is now progressing on a scale that rivals a torpedo station in the United States.

LITTLE SON ARRIVES

Two homes were gladdened yesterday by the arrival of a little grandson.

Mrs. Madge Raycraft of this city, received a telegram from San Francisco saying that a son had been borne to her son Morris and wife. The latter was formerly Miss Ida Brougher of this city.

This is the first grandson in both the Brougher and Raycraft families and the advent of the little stranger has been the cause of much rejoicing—Carson Appeal.
